

Terms of use for laboratories of the faculty computer science and mathematics

- 1) Members of the HTW Dresden which got a valid user identification are authorised for using the laboratories. By request (of the lab staff) they have to show their student ID card or their employee ID card. External persons or institutions needs a special permission from the faculty for using the labs.
- 2) The usage of the technical equipment is only permitted for education and research purposes. Any commercial usage or playing computer games are forbidden.
- 3) The labs are used for seminary and the accomplishment of study work ("free practise"). All the seminary reservations are written down in the showcase or the information beside the lab-door. If "free practise" during a seminary is possible, will decide by the current reader/teacher.
- 4) Unauthorized modifications at Hard- and Software also their settings and technical equipment are not allowed. Culpably caused damage have to be recompense by the causer. Any faults (which might arise) should be report to the supervisory staff currently.
- 5) Software and databases are subject of the copyright restrictions. It is not allowed to break or contravene culpably these copyrights.
- 6) All users are responsible themselves to back up their data. The faculty are not liable for any data loss.
- 7) It is not allowed to share access or login data with third-parties.
- 8) Without the lab-staffs explicit consent it is prohibited to connect private computers to the HTWNET network.
- 9) Blocking the lock screen should be avoided. All blocked workstations will be unblocked at the beginning of any seminary. Everything not saved will be lost. Beyond the seminary at "free practice" it is possible to unlock the workstations by the lab-staff.
- 10) All users have to take care of the lab printers. The usage of appropriated printing paper (not less than 80g) is required.
- 11) The lab equipment should be treated with care. Smoking, eating and drinking is prohibited. All users should keep quiet so that others will not be disturbed. Instructions of the lab staff shall be observed.
- 12) Infringements against these conditions can result in expulsion. Under certain circumstances, legal proceedings are possible.
- 13) The regulation of the Rechenzentrum (University's datacenter) remain unaffected by the above-noted rules.

Please refer to disclaimer on last page!

Disclaimer

For shortterm storage purposes it is necessary to use the PC's temporary drive (z. B. T:\ or /tmp). All data at this drives will be reset, after every session. Personal storage devices should be should be tested for lack of viruses. This is required before and after every session.

All users are responsible themselves for safe working. For this it should be avoided to give other users writing permissions at sensitive data.

Plotting of large-format prints (DIN A2 – DIN A0) will be performed by the lab-staff. For this purposes it is necessary to get a stamped and signed order note from the current teacher/lecturer. The required form is obtainable at the lab-service (room U449). Current information are available at the faculties' website.

The house regulations of the HTW Dresden apply.

Stand: Oktober 2024